Kathleen Rogers

I define success by my residents' satisfaction.

I need to keep them happy while managing my facility costs. I need to know how well we're doing at all times. And if there's a problem, I need to know how to fix it.

Jack Stevenson

Administrator

Smart business decisions come from having access to superior information.

Today's residents have more healthcare choices than ever before, but that makes your job more complicated. You need to navigate today's complex healthcare system so that you can continue to help residents live healthy lives. You shouldn't have to know each insurer's formulary, and neither should your doctors and nurses. Yet, when a formulary issue isn't managed properly, you have to manage the associated costs. And that can get expensive.

Remedi SeniorCare's intelligent tools give you the knowledge you need to make sure your residents receive the care they require at a price you can afford.

I have fewer nurses caring for more residents.

They're overworked, with mountains of paperwork to do. I need them to get it right the first time, but I also need to keep up their morale.

Theda Harris
Director of Nursing

Remedi SeniorCare works with you to put knowledge into practice.

Accurate and efficient operations are at the center of every great healthcare facility. We understand the daily challenges you and your staff face to keep things running smoothly. We are a pharmacy that doesn't get in the way of taking care of residents.

Remedi works with you to put knowledge into practice. Our collaborative approach uncovers the trends that drive drug utilization and cost in your facility. And we help you to discover opportunities for making your pharmacy services more accurate and efficient—and even more cost-effective.

Keeping your facility staffed is about keeping your staff happy. And they're happiest when they're caring for residents. We empower your staff to focus on resident care, not paperwork, providing nurses with education and training on a regular basis. The result: Improved staff performance and job satisfaction.

Accurate documentation is essential to a deficiency-free survey.

We need a pharmacy that gets it right the first time, every time.

Sharon Yates and Kathleen Rogers
Director of Nursing, Nurse

Today's healthcare regulations are more complicated than ever, especially for long-term care facilities.

With constantly changing federal, state and local regulations and complex guidelines, don't you want a pharmacy that can help you identify and mitigate regulatory risks?

Remedi SeniorCare embeds today's regulations into its pharmacy practice and software systems. Rules can be customized to fit your facility's clinical and financial needs, and can even be automated. We incorporate survey readiness into everything we do. So you can concentrate on caring.
